

Electrical Engineer Electrical Test Systems (f/m/d)

Extent of employment: Full time, Fonyod

We are looking for a committed and experienced electrical engineer our location in Fonyod to support our team.

Your tasks:

- Development, implementation and launch of test systems
- Design and integration of test hardware, measurement technology and automation solutions into test systems
- Integration of measurement and testing software for the automation of tests and data collection
- Conducting measurement system analyses
- Creation of test reports and documentation of test systems, test processes and results
- Capture, review, optimization and manage existing cms-test hardware
- Further development and improvement of test concepts regarding to test hard- and software and AOI applications
- Conducting of electrical and electromechanical measurements
- Participation in product error analysis

Your profil:

- Completed higher technical education in the field of electronics/electrical engineering/mechatronics
- Proficient in MS Office
- Basic knowledge in LabView programming
- Basic knowledge of an electronic development tool
- English in spoken and written form
- Independence and accuracy
- Teamwork and communication skills

Our offer:

- Interesting, varied and responsible position in the company
- Attractive career and development opportunities
- Motivating working atmosphere and working in a powerful team
- Various other benefits (home-office option, discount meals, housing support)
- Outstanding wages

Do you find our job offer interesting and want to become part of our team? Then we look forward to receiving your CV in English and Hungarian to the following E-Mail address margit.zelenak@cms-electronics.com or via our homepage

<https://www.cms-electronics.com/karriere/offene-stellen/>